A Note to Our Employees:

This Employee Manual (hereafter referred to as the “Manual) is designed to help you understand the college’s mission, policies, procedures, and responsibilities as an employee at Fashion Institute of Technology (“FIT”). It will inform you of what you should expect from FIT, and what FIT expects from you as a valued employee.

This Manual is not a contract of employment, nor is it intended to create contractual obligations for FIT of any kind. Manual information is for explanatory and illustrative purposes only and does not supersede the precise language of FIT’s institutional policies, employment policies and practices, or its benefit plans. FIT reserves the right to modify this Manual at any time. FIT will make every effort to notify employees when an official change has been made, but employees are ultimately responsible for keeping current on all FIT policies, procedures, benefits, and working conditions.

This Manual has been updated in both content and format since the last edition. You will notice that much of the information provided is in the form of web links (urls). This format allows for the most current content to be provided to employees via the FIT website and is environmentally friendly; it does not require printed updates!

If you have questions or need clarification regarding the contents of this Manual, please contact the Office of Human Resources by phone at (212) 217-3650, by email at humanresources1@fitnyc.edu or the HR Solutions Center.

Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1985 (COBRA)

COBRA is a federal law that allows for continuation of health care plan coverage that would otherwise end due to certain qualifying events. Following a qualifying event, an individual choosing COBRA continuation coverage of their health benefits will be at the full cost of the plan plus an additional 2% administrative cost.
In compliance with federal COBRA law and New York State Continuation Coverage law, FIT’s health care plan coverage may be extended for up to 36 months due to termination of employment or reduction in work hours. FIT’s health care plan coverage may also be extended under COBRA for up to 36 months for an enrolled employee’s covered spouse (and dependents) due to divorce, for enrolled dependents due to an employee’s death, or if an enrolled child meets the age limitation under a health care plan. In lieu of federal COBRA, a child who loses coverage due to the plan’s age limitation may elect the New York State “Age 29” Dependent Coverage Extension (Young Adult Option) for up to 36 months and which has a different cost and different eligibility requirements than COBRA.

The Office of Human Resources and Labor Relations is responsible for notifying enrollees in a FIT health care plan of their COBRA and New York State Continuation Coverage rights. In the case of divorce, it is the responsibility of the employee to notify Human Resources within 60 days of the event and in the case of a child meeting a plan’s age limitation, it is the responsibility of the employee to notify Human Resources within 30 days of the event. For questions related to continuation coverage please contact a benefits representative at (212) 217-3670.

Unemployment Insurance
When an employee’s work relationship with FIT is ended, they may be eligible to receive unemployment insurance benefits if they meet requirements established by the New York State Unemployment Insurance Division (“NYSUID”). To determine a former employee’s eligibility for benefits, the NYSUID requires the college to provide specified information on that person, including details surrounding the employee’s termination. More information about unemployment insurance is available on the NYSUID Web site.

ATTENDANCE

Absence and Tardiness
FIT expects regular and satisfactory attendance and punctuality on the part of all of its employees. Arriving at work on time reflects a commitment to achieving the goals of the college. Moreover, too-frequent absences or tardiness can disrupt planned activities and place unfair burdens on those who must absorb the added workload left by an absent or tardy colleague. Excessive absence and lateness, or failure to abide by the absence notification procedure outlined below, may be subject to disciplinary action. The same is true for unacceptable patterns of absence or lateness. These patterns may become evident when an employee has frequent unscheduled absences before or after weekends or holidays, or is often late to work following weekends or holidays.

Absence Notification
If you are going to be absent without prior approval, it is essential that you contact your supervisor as early in the day as possible. In the event your supervisor is unavailable upon contacting them, you should explain your absence to another supervisor or a coworker.

Minimum Time Off Increments
Time off will be charged in increments no shorter than one-half hour. Thus, if you are late for any amount of time less than one-half hour, then you must charge one-half hour to the appropriate time bank. Similarly, if you leave work early, the minimum time-bank charge is one-half hour. And remember: Except in cases of illness or as directed by your supervisor, you must receive approval to leave work early.

Time Banks
It is the employee’s and supervisor’s responsibility to check time banks to assure that there is enough time available to cover employee absences before submitting and approving time via the Web-based Attendance System. Overuse of certain time banks may result in a deduction from pay.

Vacation Request.
You should submit a request for vacation time to your supervisor as far in advance as possible. Vacation requests given without sufficient notice may be denied based on the needs of the department.
SEPARATION FROM EMPLOYMENT AT FIT

There are several ways in which an employee may separate from FIT, including retirement, resignation, termination, etc. The information below relates to the processes and benefit options associated with leaving the college. It also discusses related issues in the event of an employee’s death.

Retirement from FIT

Certain age, employment service, and retirement plan participation requirements must be met in order to qualify for retirement from FIT. Employees must meet one of the criteria in section A below and also must meet the criteria in B at the time they request to retire.

A.
   - Attainment of age of 55 years and
   - Full-time employees - 10 years of full-time service, or
   - Part-time employees - 20 fall and/or spring semesters of part-time service, or
   - Eligibility for an early retirement incentive that is being offered by the College

B.
   - The employee has certified in writing to the College that he or she either has applied to receive a benefit under an approved FIT-offered retirement plan or has been determined by the retirement plan to be entitled to receive such a benefit.

If the required criteria are met, a Terminal Sick-Bank Payment equal to the current value of one-half of the accrued but unused days in the employee’s sick bank, up to 100 days will be paid upon retirement.

Full-time employees who qualify for retirement may otherwise request a pre-retirement leave (“Travia Leave”) equal to one-half of the accrued but unused days in their sick bank, to a maximum of 100 days, in lieu of receiving a Terminal Sick Bank Payment. Full-time employees may qualify for other benefits including, but not limited to, retiree health care coverage through the New York City Health Benefits Program and retiree Welfare Fund benefits coverage if additional criteria are met.

Employees must notify the Office of Human Resources and Labor Relations of a request to retire by completing and submitting a Notification of Retirement form, found on the benefits forms page, in advance of the anticipated retirement.

Because retirement benefits are generally specific to each employee’s situation and navigating the process of retirement involves many details, you are highly encouraged to discuss your retirement plans with a benefits representative well before any planned retirement. Please send an email to hr_benefit@fitnyc.edu for additional information

Summary of Benefits upon Separation of Employment
Re-employment
Employees who leave the college through resignation are eligible to apply for employment in the future. Those who are terminated for cause will not be considered for re-employment.

Surrendering ID and FIT property on Separation
Employees separating from FIT will be required to surrender their Photo-Identification cards, keys, and any other FIT owned property granted to them for work purposes by FIT including, but not limited to, laptops, tablets, or mobile devices.

TRAINING & DEVELOPMENT

Some training is mandated by law, some may be recommended based upon an employee’s responsibilities or office functions, and some are voluntary and for personal and professional growth. FIT offers online compliance training to help employees understand relevant laws, regulations, and FIT policies, and how to embody them in their daily work. Compliance training helps employees flourish and encourages an ethical environment at FIT. You will receive automated email notifications that will guide you in completing required training. It is your responsibility to complete the mandatory training in a timely manner. Per the Collective Bargaining Agreement, adjunct classroom faculty shall receive one half (1/2) of their hourly rate for each hour spent attending mandatory training.

In conjunction with your supervisor, you will discuss a plan that identifies opportunities for training and development.
