Josh Green is the CEO of Panjiva. In 2005, Josh experienced first-hand the difficulty of finding objective information on overseas suppliers and, realizing this was a common pain point, worked with M.I.T. computer scientist James Psota to launch Panjiva.

Today, Panjiva (http://panjiva.com) tracks the activities of millions of companies engaged in global trade and delivers intelligence about these companies to the global trade community. Panjiva currently serves over 2,000 clients, including 45 Fortune 500 companies. Josh authors the Panjiva blog, where he analyzes global economic trends and discusses challenges facing the global trade community. He has also been widely cited in publications such as The Wall Street Journal, The Financial Times, and The New York Times.

Josh is a veteran of The Boston Consulting Group and has master’s degrees from Harvard's JFK School of Government and Harvard Business School, where he graduated as a Baker Scholar.
