Bias Crimes Prevention

I. Policy Statement
The Fashion Institute of Technology (“FIT” or the “College”) is committed to ensuring respect for the members of its diverse community. The College has therefore established practices to protect all members of the FIT community from hate crimes that occur within the campus’s jurisdiction. Hate crimes, also called “bias crimes or bias-related crimes,” are criminal activities motivated by the perpetrator’s bias or attitude against an individual victim or group based on perceived or actual personal characteristics, such as race, religion, ethnicity, gender, sexual orientation, or disability. To help ensure an environment free of such hateful acts, the College has enacted policies and procedures to inform incoming students how these hate crimes can be prevented on campus. Accordingly, FIT will provide information to incoming students regarding bias-related crime and its prevention.

II. Reason for the Policy

These laws include the following: (i) the federal Hate/Bias Crime Reporting Act of 1990; (ii) New York State Education Law, Section 6436 of Article 129-A; and (iii) the New York State Hate Crimes Act of 2000 (Article 485 of the New York State Penal Law).

A. Definitions

i. Hate or Bias-related crime: Under the New York State Hate Crimes Act of 2000, a person commits a hate crime when he or she commits a specified offense that is specified in the Act and either:

   a. Intentionally selects the person against whom the offense is committed or intended to be committed in whole or in substantial part because of a belief or perception regarding the race, color, national origin, ancestry, gender, religion, religious practice, age, disability, or sexual orientation of a person, regardless of whether the belief or perception is correct; or

   b. Intentionally commits the act or acts constituting the offense in whole or in substantial part because of a belief or perception regarding the race, color, national origin, ancestry, gender, religion, religious practice, age, disability, or sexual orientation of a person, regardless of whether the belief or perception is correct.

B. Education and Information

Students are informed about hate/bias-related crime prevention measures during the College’s student orientation sponsored by the Office of Enrollment Management and Student Success. Specifically, this education and information program includes, but is not limited to, the following subjects:

i. The applicable laws, ordinances, and regulations on bias-related crime, including the provisions and coverage of the New York State Hate Crimes Act of 2000 (Penal Law Article 485);

ii. The penalties for commission of hate/bias-related crimes;

iii. The procedures in effect at the College for dealing with hate/bias-related crime;

iv. The availability of counseling and other support services for the victims of hate/bias-related crime;

v. The nature of and common circumstances relating to hate/bias-related crime on College campuses; and

vi. The methods the College employs to advise and to update students about security procedures.

Additionally, Enrollment Management and Student Success at FIT also coordinates training on preventing and addressing hate/bias-related incidents that do not rise to the level of a crime under the New York State Hate Crimes Act of 2000. Such incidents may be prohibited by FIT’s Nondiscrimination and Anti-Harassment policy, which prohibits discrimination and discriminatory harassment based on age, caregiver status, citizenship status (except as required to comply with law), color, creed, disability, ethnic background, familial status, gender, gender identity, genetic information, marital status, military service or veteran status, national origin, pregnancy (including childbirth and breastfeeding), race, sex, sexual orientation, unemployment status, an individual’s relationship or association with a member of a protected category, or any other criterion prohibited by applicable federal, state, or local laws. Hate/bias-related incidents, whether crimes or not, may additionally implicate conduct prohibited by FIT’s Code of Student Conduct and FIT’s Sexual Misconduct Response policy. FIT will make the determination as to which policy is most appropriate.

C. Penalties for Hate/Bias-Related Crime
Penalties for bias crimes are very serious and can range from fines to extended prison sentences, depending on the nature of the underlying criminal offense, the use of violence, or previous convictions of the offender. In addition to criminal penalties, students found responsible for committing a hate/bias-related crime or incident may be subject to sanctions, including suspension and expulsion from the College, as set forth in the relevant FIT policies governing conduct.

D. Availability of Counseling and Other Support Services
Victims of bias crime or bias incidents can avail themselves of counseling and support services from the Counseling Center, A212B, 212 217.4260.

VI. Procedures
Reporting a Hate/Bias-Related Crime Incident
