Questions:

Q1. I apologize for sending yet another RFI on this contract at this late stage, but the specified water treatment vendor has just issued their proposal this morning and they have many questions that are preventing them (and us from pricing) this properly. Can we please get a response to the following prior to bid?

"The project specification for water treatment is written as though for a completely new piping system and not as an integration into an existing system with existing treatment equipment. Nothing is shown on the drawings for water treatment. Please clarify what the scope of work is for water treatment on this project. Indicate what existing equipment is to remain and what is expected to be new. Please provide a piping diagram showing this equipment and clarifying the requirement. Additionally, please indicate if a glycol makeup system is required and indicate its installation on the drawings."

A1. The cleaning in the specification is for all new glycol piping shown on the plans. The water treatment is for an additional cooling tower and it should be extended from the existing chemical treatment for two towers. The glycol makeup station is existing and the contractor has to connect the new pipes as shown on the roof plan.
